

Practice FRQ – Grade Sheet

While interest groups and political parties each play a significant role in the United States political system, they differ in their fundamental goals.

- Identify the fundamental goal of political parties in the political process
- Identify the fundamental goal of interest groups in the political process
- Describe two different ways by which interest group support the fundamental goal of political parties in the political process
- For one of the forms of support you described in the answer above, use a specific example to explain two different ways in which that form of support helps interest groups to achieve their fundamental goal in the political process

Introduction	_____	/1
Identify and explain the fundamental goal of political parties in the political process	_____	/1
Identify and explain the fundamental goal of interest groups in the political process	_____	/1
Describe one way by which interest group support the fundamental goal of political parties in the political process	_____	/1
Describe one way by which interest group support the fundamental goal of political parties in the political process	_____	/1
Use a specific example to explain one way in which that form of support helps interest groups to achieve their fundamental goal in the political process	_____	/1
Use a specific example to explain one way in which that form of support helps interest groups to achieve their fundamental goal in the political process	_____	/1
Conclusion	_____	/1
Total for FRQ	_____	/8
Total FRQ Score	_____	/30